

KINNEY INDICTED TODAY FOR ALLEGED SHORTAGE

MINOR PROPOSED WORKS HERE ARE GIVEN APPROVAL

State Highway Dept. Is In Favor Of Fifth St., E. Boyd Projects

A special meeting of the board of local improvements of the city council was called by Mayor G. C. Dixon this morning at 11 o'clock, at which time the first steps were taken toward the program of improvements proposed locally under federal aid. The meeting was called by the mayor following receipt of the approval and recommendation to the federal government of two projects, namely, the resurfacing of Fifth street from Highland to Crawford avenues and on East Boyd street from Galena to North Jefferson avenue and thence north one block on Jefferson to East Fellows street, with a bituminous substance. Both of these projects have been requested by owners under the plan whereby the federal government stands 30 per cent of the cost of the proposed improvement.

The federal aid act provides that the work shall be performed by local labor and that human labor be employed in lieu of machinery. The board of local improvements voted origination of both schemes and the date for the public hearings was set for Monday, July 10 at 7:30 P. M.

No Increase In Taxes
The work, it was explained, will be carried on with no increase in taxation, the cost of the improvements to be carried over a long term of financing with a low rate of interest, which, coupled with the excellent financial condition of the city in the retirement of local improvement bonds, has been considered by the state Department of Public Works and Buildings before approving the projects.

It was reported that other projects of the city's program to be carried on under the federal aid plan have also been approved by the state department, but these were not ready for announcement today.

Favor Trunk Line
That the proposal of the city officials of Rock Falls and Sterling, to build a hard surface road paralleling Rock River on the south side from the twin-cities to Dixon, is not ready for approval or recommendation by the state Department of Public Works and Buildings, was reported here today. Officials of Rock Falls and Sterling were in Dixon this morning conferring with state Highway Department officials at the local office.

It was reported that the State Department favors following the present trunk line system and would prefer an extension of state highway route 71, across Lee county to Rock Falls over the suggested south river road.

SEN. MONROE TO CONTINUE FIGHT ON SALES TAX

Will Force The State To Sue Him To Test Act's Validity

Springfield, Ill., June 29—(AP)—Legal action to test the constitutionality of the new two per cent sales tax was promised today by James O. Monroe, who led Senate opposition to the Horner revenue bill.

Monroe said that he had discussed with other Senators the prospect of a court attack on the validity of the sales tax, but that no arrangement had been made.

If injunction action is not started, Monroe said he would force the state to sue him by refusing to pay the tax on his printing and publishing business at Collinsville.

"A great many unconstitutional bills pass the legislature, and this session has been notable for the number and importance of invalid bills," the Senator declared.

"Among these were the 'last sales tax,' the bill giving the insurance department absolute control over the insurance companies and business in the state, the bill broadening the powers of the Commerce Commission in fixing rates without hearings and the dog racing bill which purports to restrict the number of tracks which can be operated in any county. All of these bills can be knocked out if attacked."

Representatives of the Council of Illinois Merchants have not announced if they will seek an injunction against the new sales tax. The suit on which the original three per cent sales tax was declared unconstitutional was brought in the name of the Council's president, R. Irving Winter of Alton.

Two More Banks In Illinois Reopened

Chicago—The First Bank & Trust Company of Cairo, and the Deer Creek bank were authorized to reopen by the State Auditor's office.

Former State Officer Named In An Indictment

GARRETT KINNEY

Former State Treasurer and later Director of Finance, who was indicted by a Sangamon county grand jury today on charges of failing to turn over to his successor $173,832.53 of public funds, Kinney is now under guard in a hospital at Peoria, where he is recovering from wounds inflicted in an attempt at suicide last week.

OSKALOOSA, IA. POLICE CHIEF'S ARREST PLEADED

Mother Of Youth He Shot In Raid To Prefer Charge

BULLETIN
Oskaloosa, Iowa, June 29—(AP)—Howard Allgood, Oskaloosa Police Chief, was arraigned today on second degree murder charges growing out of the fatal wounding of Gerald Blackwood, 23, in a liquor raid June 16.

Allgood pleaded not guilty before Justice of the Peace K. E. Bartley and was released under $3,000 bonds pending preliminary hearing July 7. County Attorney A. W. Palmer said the case would be submitted to the Muskegon county grand jury which meets in October.

Oskaloosa, Ia., June 29—(AP)—Howard Allgood, Oskaloosa Chief of Police, was to be arraigned today on charges of murder filed by Mrs. Mary Blackwood, whose son, Gerald, 23, was fatally wounded by Allgood in a liquor raid June 16.

Gerald's mother filed the charges yesterday with Justice of the Peace K. E. Bartley after a coroner's jury Tuesday found that Blackwood came to his death from a shot fired by the Chief while the latter was "on duty as a Deputy sheriff."

The youth died last Friday in a hospital of peritonitis which developed after he was wounded. With Sheriff Frank Hook and Deputy Sheriff Fritz Van Genderson, Allgood was searching for a still on an island in the Des Moines river, near Eddyville the night of the shooting.

Allgood testified that Blackwood made a motion toward his hip and Allgood fired. The chief said he thought the youth was reaching for a gun. After he was wounded, Blackwood was searched by the officers who found he was not armed.

Annual Warning On Fireworks Issued

Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber today issued the annual warning against violations of the city fireworks ordinance. Violators, he stated, would be arrested and fined. The ordinance provides that no fireworks may be discharged on streets, alleys or parks controlled by the city. The discharge of any fireworks within the city fire limits is also barred. The only place within the city limits where fireworks may be discharged is in the yards of homes that are not within the fire limits.

The ordinance provides that dealers may sell fireworks from July 1 to 4 inclusive. Bombs and giant crackers over four inches in length are not permitted to be sold.

State Rests Case Against Strangler

Chicago, June 29—(AP)—The state rested its case today against John L. Minzer, accused of strangling his sweetheart, Amelia Gally, 28.

Policeman J. A. Sprague, the final witness, told of hearing Minzer confess the crime. The written confession has been barred from the trial.

Sprague said Minzer told him Miss Gally was an expectant mother and begged him to kill her. He quoted Minzer as saying: "I didn't want her to become the mother of my child. She wanted me to kill her. She asked for it and I let her have it."

The defense began presentation of evidence this afternoon.

VANDALS HURLED ROCKS THROUGH SHOP WINDOWS

Two Local Barber Establishments Scenes Of Vandalism

Two outlying barber shops were scenes of activities of what is believed to be a petty racketeering ring during the night when stones and pieces of brick were hurled through the plate glass windows. The depredations were committed at about 2:30 this morning from the best information that had been gleaned by investigating officers of the city police force and the Sheriff's office.

Six rocks and pieces of fire brick were thrown through the windows of the William Curran barber shop, 527 Depot avenue. One of these struck a partition on which a clock was hanging, the clock stopping at about 2:25 this morning. Only slight damage was done in the shop.

Seen By Boy
At about the same hour, a large rock and piece of fire brick were hurled through the plate glass window of the Walter Knott barber shop at 919 Third Street. A fairly good description of the occupants of a car seen near the place at the time was obtained by Deputy Sheriff Ward Miller who was called to investigate this morning. A boy who was visiting at a home near the Knott shop observed the car pull up to the curb, one man leave the machine, carrying the missiles in his hands and run up close to the building, and then throw both missiles through the plate glass windows. The missiles were turned over to the deputy sheriff this morning to be examined for fingerprints. Deputy Ward Miller had collected the articles thrown into both barber shops this morning and it was determined that they had been gathered up near the cement plant east of the city.

The investigation later turned to other depredations since the first of the year in which outlying barbers have suffered damage and one down town shop was the scene of considerable damage early in the spring. It was learned this morning that some of the barbers had been visited recently and had paid $5, supposedly union fees, for which they were given a receipt, but have received no further credentials.

This angle was being investigated with a view of ascertaining the cause for the malicious damage to property in Dixon.

BIG WHEAT CARRY-OVER

Washington, June 29—(AP)—The Bureau of Agricultural Economics said today the world carry-over of wheat in the principal exporting countries as of July 1 "is expected to be as much as 50,000,000 bushels above that of last year."

Washington, June 29—(AP)—The Bureau of Agricultural Economics said today the world carry-over of wheat in the principal exporting countries as of July 1 "is expected to be as much as 50,000,000 bushels above that of last year."

They call for a $205,000 reduction in gross revenues of the Peoples Power Company, approximately 16 per cent.

TRUE BILL OF FIVE COUNTS IS FOUND BY JURY

Bond Of $25,000 To Be Demanded Of Former Official

Springfield, Ill., June 29—(AP)—Garrett De F. Kinney, former state Finance Director, was indicted today on a charge of failing to turn over to his successor $173,832.53 of public funds.

The indictment, containing five counts, was returned by the Sangamon county grand jury, which was reconvened yesterday to consider reports of shortages in motor fuel tax accounts under Kinney's jurisdiction during the last administration.

Bond was fixed at $25,000 by Circuit Judge Victor H. Hemphill. Kinney is under guard at a hospital at Peoria, where he is recovering from gunshot wounds in a suicide attempt last week.

State's Attorney Alfred Greening reconvened the grand jury at the request of J. J. Neiger, Assistant Attorney General.

Conviction of the charge would result in a prison term of from one to ten years.

Kinney, a Republican who formerly served as State Treasurer, was alleged to have shortages of approximately $174,000 in his accounts by an audit report recently submitted to Joseph J. Rice, who succeeded him as Finance Director.

The state has filed suit in an attempt to recover $352,804.31 in departmental funds which were deposited by Kinney in banks at Springfield and Jacksonville, which have since closed.

Electricity Rates In Rock Island And Moline Ordered Cut

Chicago, June 29—(AP)—Reduction in electricity rates averaging 14 per cent for residential consumers, 18 per cent for commercial lighting and 17 per cent for power were ordered by the Illinois Commerce commission today to be placed in effect Aug. 1 by the Peoples Power Company in Rock Island, Moline and adjacent communities.

The basis of the new schedule was a recommendation by J. H. Matthews, chief engineer for the commission. His figures were presented to the commission at a hearing today before representatives of the tri-city community and of the power company. After prolonged discussion they were accepted, and the rates were made permanent by the commission.

Other measures on which final action was taken provide for the establishment of a state commission on governmental retrenchment.

Solution of Problem of Stabilization Put Squarely Up to U. S.

Seven Illinois Residents Out Of 1272 Appointments

Washington, June 29—(AP)—Of the 1272 civil nominations submitted by President Roosevelt to the Senate during the first session of this Congress, only seven concerned Illinois residents. All were confirmed.

They were Harold L. Ickes of Chicago, Secretary of Interior; Louis FitzHenry of Bloomington, U. S. Circuit Court; William Zimmerman, Jr., Chicago, Assistant Commissioner of Indian Affairs; Vincent Y. Dallman, Springfield, Board of Mediation; M. S. Szymczak of Chicago, Federal Reserve Board; William E. Dodd of Chicago, Ambassador to Germany; and Paul E. Ruppel, Beardstown, Marshall for southern Illinois.

FitzHenry, elevated from the District bench is scheduled to qualify for his new office July 1, at which time Representative J. Earl Major, Democrat of Hillsboro, will be appointed to the District bench.

Dallman rejected his office, and it has been reported, will become collector of Internal Revenue at Springfield.

House Passed Money Bills During The Day
Springfield, Ill., June 29—(AP)—Clearing up on the essential appropriations, the House swung into action today by concurring to a series of Senate amendments to the authorized expenditures during the next biennium.

Approval was given an addition of $1,850,000 to the Department of Finance Appropriation, providing for enforcement of the sales tax law. It represents two per cent of the anticipated receipts from the tax during the biennium. Votes against concurrence were cast by 21 Representatives.

The Senate sent the University of Illinois appropriation to Governor Horner by concurrence in House amendments.

Other measures on which final action was taken provide for the establishment of a state commission on governmental retrenchment.

Compromise Chucked By Gold Bloc At London Meet

London, June 29—(AP)—An eagerly-awaited British compromise plan for solution of the stabilization crisis of the world economic conference was chucked overboard in a meeting this evening by European gold bloc countries, and responsibility for a way out was laid on Washington's doorstep.

The British and the representatives of the gold bloc decided to approve to Washington for assistance in overcoming the stabilization problem.

The British compromise had been offered to meet an ultimatum by the gold standard nations, headed by France which demanded currency stabilization as the price of their remaining in the conference.

Prior to the meeting between the British and the gold nations there was a lengthy conference of British lenders to discuss the compromise plan offered by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, the details of which were not published.

The British conference was visited by Raymond Moley, American Assistant Secretary of State, and James P. Warburg, financial adviser to the American delegation. What part, if any, they played was kept a secret.

NOTHING HAS BEEN DONE
Washington, June 29—(AP)—Dean Acheson, Undersecretary of the Treasury, told reporters today no action was being considered in Washington regarding stabilization of the dollar and noting had been done in this respect since President Roosevelt rejected the temporary stabilization proposal forwarded from the London conference some days ago.

He declined to discuss anything having to do with the London economic conference, although advisers are being received from the American delegates and being forwarded by the State Department to the President in New England.

Reports Surprising
Acheson expressed surprise at published reports that he was considering new stabilization plans and said he wanted to "unhesitatingly deny the reports" as only the budget for next year was discussed at a meeting yesterday between him, Lewis W. Douglas, Director of the Budget and Dr. E. A. Goldenweiser, chief statistician of the Federal Reserve Board.

(These reports were not carried by The Associated Press.)

The talk at the Treasury, said Acheson, was on budget questions regarding the government's receipts and expenditures for the coming year.

This was the only subject discussed by him and Douglas and he added that Dr. Goldenweiser dropped in to see him or about three minutes on another subject.

Fassler Furnished Bond In Cambridge
(Telegraph Special Service.)
Cambridge, Ill., June 29—Albert Fassler of near Amboy, state Department of Highways employee, appeared before Police Magistrate Merrill Werbach Tuesday and gave $5,000 bond to guarantee his appearance when called by the court.

Fassler, driver of a state highway maintenance truck, is charged with having caused the death of Walter D. Behr in a collision between his truck and the car driven by Behr at the intersection of state highways 78 and 7 in Annawan on June 21. Fassler was bound over to the Henry county grand jury.

Soviet Sailors Hunt For Mattern
Khabarovsk, Siberia, June 29—(AP)—Soviet guards and sailors continued to search for Jimmie Mattern north of here today, but the belief grew the American aviator had been forced down southwest of Khabarovsk, whence he took off for Alaska June 15.

Aviation experts believe the Texan had not reached the Aleutian Islands and that he could not have crashed near Okhotsk Sea, because the visibility was good when he left here to continue his projected world flight.

He carried a rifle, ammunition, and fishing tackle, so if he were forced down on a remote island safely he could easily survive for a long time, they said.

Two Gifts To L. O. O. M. Made Public

Once Famous Film Comedian Is Found Dead

ROS COE ARBUCKLE

Heart trouble proved fatal to "Fatty" Arbuckle at his home in New York City last night, following a party celebrating his first wedding anniversary. He was found dead in bed by his bride of a year. Arbuckle was a popular screen comedian until his career was rudely broken by a tragic "wild party" at his apartment, at which a young woman died under mysterious circumstances, 12 years ago. Arbuckle was accused of her death and finally acquitted after three trials, but the public refused to patronize his pictures. He recently was attempting a comeback.

DOWNSTATE IS VICTOR IN VOTE ON LANTZ BILLS

Empower Chicago To Levy Own Taxes For Relief

BULLETIN
Springfield, Ill., June 29—(AP)—Downstate legislators forced House passage today of the Lantz bill to empower Chicago to levy local taxes for poor relief. Representatives of Cook county voted solidly against the bill, which passed 80 to 54.

Legislative approval today had been given to two thirds of the special program of major issues sponsored by Governor Horner during the last month of the session.

Ready for the Governor's signature are the minimum wage, utility regulation, Chicago school bond issues, as well as part of the insurance regulatory bills.

The Horner Tax Commission bills are still before the House, with their fate in doubt.

'WASH SALES' OF KUHN, LOEB AND
CO. REVEALEDOne Transaction With Kuhn's Daughter
Was Approved

Washington, June 29—(AP)—

Senate investigators were told today that the government granted Otto H. Kuhn an income tax deduction in 1930 in stock sales without knowledge that it was sold to his daughter.

Earlier, the senior partner of Kuhn, Loeb & Company New York banking house, testified that securities he sold in 1930 for a $117,000 loss were re-acquired from his daughter three months later, though the exchange was dated the following day.

Kahn agreed to statements by Ferdinand Pecora, Senate counsel, in 1930 in stock sales without knowledge that it was sold to his daughter.

The field agent, Pecora said, reported the sales were made on the open market.

Latin told Senate investigators today he paid a foreign income tax in 1930 when he paid none here. He said he paid a $4,480 foreign tax in 1930 and "assumed" it was in England.

Year-End Sales Custom
Peppel of the capital gains clause of the income tax law was recommended by Kahn, after testifying that year-end sale of stocks for tax purposes was "sort of an annual custom."

"I asserted that Congress would perform a 'great service' if it would find a means to regulate speculation."

Kahn told the committee he sold stock to members of his family at the end of 1930 and in other years. The witness contended the administration's "new deal" must be given a fair chance.

"We all must adjust ourselves to a new day," he said.

"Whether reactionary or progressive, we must attempt to give this new legislation a new deal."

"No one," he continued, "is prepared to say now whether it is wholly or partly right or wholly or partly wrong. We must give it a little time to test the thing out and ascertain later what suggestions could be made without pulling out half-cocked."

Wallace Delayed
By Washout Today

Hurdland, Mo., June 29—(AP)—A washout on the Santa Fe Railroad's main line near Kenwood, Mo., blocked all trains here today and delayed Santa Fe train No. 6, on which Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture was en route to Chicago.

A rainfall of virtually isolated Hurdland and Brainerd.

The rainfall estimated at more than 6 inches was reported to have washed out a bridge on the Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City Railroad of the Burlington lines, and flooded the Burlington tracks east of here to a depth of three feet.

Highways were flooded and two small rivers, the Salt at Brainerd and the Fabius at Edina, Mo., were out of their banks.

Fighters Weigh In
For Tonight's Bout

New York, June 29—(AP)—Jack Sharkey, the heavyweight champion preceded his rival, Primo Carnera, on the official scales of the state athletic commission today and weighed 201 pounds for his 15-round title match tonight in the Madison Square Garden Bowl, Long Island City.

Sharkey's weight was just four pounds under that what he scaled for the match in which he won the title from Max Schmeling a year ago.

The champion was found to be in exceptionally good condition. In contrast with his usual talkativeness before a big fight, he appeared repressed and had little to say.

Carnera scaled 260 1-2 pounds, giving him an advantage of 59 1-2 pounds, and marking the biggest difference in the weight of heavyweight contenders since Jack Dempsey spotted Jess Willard more than 60 pounds and beat him at Toledo in 1919.

State's Commerce Commission Cui

Chicago, June 29—(AP)—Two members of the Illinois Commerce Commission—G. Gale Gilbert of Mt. Vernon and Paul Samuel of Jacksonville—retired today effective July 1.

After that time the Commission will function with five members, as provided by a law recently passed by the state legislature.

Gilbert was chairman of the Commission under the administration of Gov. Louis L. Emmerson. He was replaced by Governor Henry Horner with Benjamin F. Lindheimer of Chicago.

Samuel announced he would return to the practice of law at Jacksonville. Gilbert plans to retire to his home at Mt. Vernon.

Members of the five man commission, all of them now serving, are Lindheimer, Phil Collins of Chicago, Andrew Olson of Moline, Charles E. Byrne of River Forest, and Ernest R. Krutgen of Chicago. Collins is the only member of the old Commission.

Double Wedding Tuesday Afternoon

On Wednesday, June 28, at 4 o'clock at the parsonage to the Christian church occurred the marriage of the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rhodes of Palmyra. At this time Miss Hazel Rhodes became the bride of Lee Rintoul of Dixon, and Miss Ethel Poffenberger, daughter of Mr. Jacob Poffenberger of Palmyra, became the bride of Ted Rhodes. The couples attended each other during the impressive ceremony at which Rev. J. A. Barnett, pastor of the Christian church officiated.

Miss Rhodes was attired in a beige ensemble of sheer crepe with white hat and white accessories. Miss Poffenberger wore a blue ensemble of same material with white hat and white accessories. Both brides carried bouquets of sweet peas and baby breath.

Later a three course wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rhodes. The table was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers. A white wedding bell was suspended above the table. An angel food cake with miniature bride and groom formed the centerpiece. Those present were the immediate relatives of both brides and grooms and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burkett and family.

Immediately after the wedding dinner both couples departed for their honeymoons. Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes going to the Carroll to visit the bride's aunt and later will attend the Century of Progress in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Rintoul left for Chicago to attend the Century of Progress.

After the first of July Mr. and Mrs. Rintoul will be at home in Dixon, the groom being employed on the Leon Burkett farm.

Comiskey-O'Brien Wedding in Berwyn

Miss Florence Comiskey of Los Angeles, Ill., and Edwin O'Brien of Berwyn, Ill., were married Saturday June twenty-fourth at Berwyn.

Mrs. O'Brien, a former high school teacher in Harmon, is well known and very popular in this vicinity. For the past four years, she has been teaching in Riverside, a suburb of Chicago.

Mr. O'Brien is a very prominent young broker of Berwyn.

The young couple will be at home after July 1st, at 3425 Harlem Avenue, Berwyn.

Picnic Closes Successful Club Year

A very successful club year was brought to a close on Wednesday afternoon when the Dixon Woman's Club held their annual picnic at Lowell Park. A business meeting was held in the afternoon at which the retiring officers gave their reports of the year's activities. Each brief resume showed the varied activities of community life the club comes in contact with or studies throughout the year.

Mrs. Louis Pitcher, the retiring president, and her cabinet of officers have worked hard and very efficiently in the administration of their duties.

An appropriate gift was presented to Mrs. Pitcher from her cabinet members, by Mrs. Florence White, the new president for the coming year. Mrs. White and her officers in turn briefly outlined their plans for the ensuing year.

Following the business meeting, bridge was enjoyed. Mrs. Hyman Walder and Mrs. Charles Herrick received the prizes for high scores.

The afternoon was brought to a delightful close with the serving of a picnic supper at which the members were joined by their families. Nearly seventy-five people sat down together at one long table. The picnic committee of hostesses consisted of the following: Mesdames Gearhart, Gehant, Barron, Street, Porter, Wadsworth, Thompson, Nettz, H. Scott and Dawson.

Protestant Bishops Protest "Mutual Consent" Divorces

Chicago, June 29—(AP)—Bishops of two protestant churches arose in unison today to voice objections to a plan of "mutual consent" for divorce proposed by Prof. Charles R. Metzger of Indiana University, before the association for the advancement of Science.

"This is the year of the Century of Progress," said Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal church, "and surely we are not going to revert to primitive customs upon the threats of those who have no religion."

"Marriage should be looked upon as a permanent state rather than a mere convenience," said Bishop E. L. Waldorf of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Both prelates were emphatic in their complete denunciation of Prof. Metzger's idea that divorce be a plea of mutual consent—with a six months' interim before granting of the decree—would end perjury and subterfuge in divorce courts and make for happier lives afterward.

"Under such a plan," said Bishop Stewart, "marriage would degenerate into an agreement between two parties to keep house together. The fundamental idea that when two persons are bound in wedlock they become one, would be destroyed."

He said that from one point of view—the sociological—that divorce by mutual consent had its points, but said the religious significance in marriage was deeper than the social.

"It would make for a grotesque life," he said.

As for Bishop Waldorf, he said he favored strengthening rather than weakening divorce laws despite Prof. Metzger's assertion that divorces were mounting in the face of more stringent laws to preserve marriage.

"The time to do the serious thinking," Bishop Waldorf said, "is before the marriage ceremony, rather than afterward."

"Only where conditions prove to be absolutely intolerable should divorce be considered at all."

Wawokiye Club With Mrs. Hoyle

The Wawokiye Club met with Mrs. Bert Hoyle Wednesday. A most delicious picnic dinner was served to forty-four members and friends. The business meeting was opened in the afternoon by all joining in song.

Roll call was answered by "My Greatest Wish," which proved a source of great merriment. Each member is to bring material for a quilt block for the next meeting, the measurements to be 10x10 and 7x9.

Mrs. Reese and Mrs. Wilson had charge of the program and a most interesting program was enjoyed. Mrs. Hill captured the prize in an interesting contest.

The day with Mrs. Hoyle was greatly enjoyed. The next meeting will be a picnic to be held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Hanson on the Ridge Road.

Conderman-Miller Wedding Tuesday

A very charming wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Conderman at 1 o'clock Tuesday, June 27th, when their daughter, Beulah Faye, became the bride of Marvin A. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Miller.

Rev. Earl M. Edwards, pastor of the M. E. Church, read the single ring ceremony which united the lives of this popular young couple.

Miss Ruth Ortgiesen played the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin as the bride couple took their place at the improvised altar. The home was beautifully decorated in pink and white.

The bride wore a gown of turquoise blue chiffon, with tan accessories and carried a bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath.

The bride was graduated from the Amboy Township high school, with the class of 1931.

The groom was attired in the conventional dark blue. He was graduated from the Amboy Township high school with the class of 1929.

After the bridal ceremony a two-course dinner was served. The bride's table being decorated with a two-tier wedding cake. Two intimate friends of the couple, the Misses Darlene Kerber and Mabel Ottengheim served the dinner.

After the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Miller left on a short honeymoon. After their return they will make their home with the groom's parents.

Amboy Day Huge Success at Club

Wednesday was Amboy Day at the Dixon Country Club, the Amboy ladies having charge of the activities, both golf and bridge and it proved a decided success, a large crowd attending. It was due to the untiring efforts of the Amboy ladies that the day proved such a success. Mesdames Rose and Ruckman had charge of the golf, and there were eight four-somes played, with thirty-two golfers present. Miss Margaret Rogers won the low score prize at golf.

For low putts Miss Helen Cahill, Mrs. Wuerth and Miss Alice Richardson were lucky.

At noon Mrs. Talty, cateress at the club served a most appetizing luncheon.

Mrs. John Haas of Amboy had charge of the bridge and there were four tables.

Double Wedding Tuesday Afternoon

On Wednesday, June 28, at 4 o'clock at the parsonage to the Christian church occurred the marriage of the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rhodes of Palmyra. At this time Miss Hazel Rhodes became the bride of Lee Rintoul of Dixon, and Miss Ethel Poffenberger, daughter of Mr. Jacob Poffenberger of Palmyra, became the bride of Ted Rhodes. The couples attended each other during the impressive ceremony at which Rev. J. A. Barnett, pastor of the Christian church officiated.

Miss Rhodes was attired in a beige ensemble of sheer crepe with white hat and white accessories. Miss Poffenberger wore a blue ensemble of same material with white hat and white accessories. Both brides carried bouquets of sweet peas and baby breath.

Later a three course wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rhodes. The table was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers. A white wedding bell was suspended above the table. An angel food cake with miniature bride and groom formed the centerpiece. Those present were the immediate relatives of both brides and grooms and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burkett and family.

Immediately after the wedding dinner both couples departed for their honeymoons. Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes going to the Carroll to visit the bride's aunt and later will attend the Century of Progress in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Rintoul left for Chicago to attend the Century of Progress.

After the first of July Mr. and Mrs. Rintoul will be at home in Dixon, the groom being employed on the Leon Burkett farm.

and Mrs. Wm. B. Janssen, host and hostess and daughters Margaret and Vera.

All departed for their homes late in the evening thanking the host and hostess for a most enjoyable day.

Put More Into French Dressing

The principle reason so many people fail to make good French dressing is that they do not put enough ingredients into it. Just olive oil, vinegar and paprika are hardly enough. Try using pickle juice instead of plain vinegar. Two small slices of garlic, two or three whole cloves, a half cup of sugar and plenty of salt and pepper to one cup of vinegar and one cup of olive oil give your French dressing a zest that it never had before.

TRUE BLUE CLASS PICNIC AT CHURCH

Because of weather conditions, the picnic of the True Blue class of the Christian church Sunday school will be held at the church instead of on the lawn at the Will Lindsey home, as had been planned.

EUROPE'S PEACE IS AMERICA'S PROBLEM

Sometime in the not-distant future the American people are going to have to make up their minds just how far they care to go in helping to maintain the peace of Europe.

That peace is a very unstable thing. It has been, ever since the war. It was unstable for decades before the war. There is nothing in sight right now to indicate that it is going to be any more stable in the immediate future.

This is because there has not, for many decades, been a situation in Europe which was not deeply displeasing to certain important minorities. Before 1914, France wanted to regain her lost provinces, Polish patriots dreamed of independence, restless groups in the Hapsburg empire schemed for separation; since the war the central powers, particularly Germany, have felt the Versailles treaty as an irksome restriction which must some day be ended.

Hence every nation must be prepared, ultimately, to appeal to force. As a result, disarmament schemes usually come to grief. Those nations interested in maintaining existing frontiers and treaties will not give up their military predominance unless they are assured that such countries as England and America will join them in preventing the discontented minorities from kicking over the traces.

All of which leads up to the question: How far are we prepared to go in under-writing the status quo overseas?

If we continue to stand aloof the disarmament program must collapse. A new war will become more than likely, and we have no assurance whatever that we shall be any more able to keep out of it than we were able to keep out of the last one.

On the other hand, if we line up firmly for existing treaties we commit ourselves deeply in quarrels that are not of our making and we lend our support to a situation which many of us feel contains great injustices.

It won't be an easy decision. But it is hard to see how we can avoid making it, one way or the other. We are rapidly approaching a great fork in the road, and there is no middle course. Before long we must make one of the most important choices in our history.

PUZZLING THOSE RUSSIANS

That cablegram sent to Jimmy Mattern in Russia by friends in his home town of San Angelo, Tex., seems to have caused Soviet officials at Moscow a good deal of perfectly natural bewilderment.

In itself, the message was simple enough. It said, "Attaboy, Jimmy," and it was signed, "San Angelo." But it puzzled the serious commissars.

"Attaboy"—in what Russian-English dictionary will you find a definition of that cryptic word? And the signature, "San Angelo"; what could that mean, and why? Obviously, the whole thing might be a code message involving a deeply-hidden plot. "Attaboy Jimmy—San Angelo"; international secrets have been given away in words less mysterious than those.

Soviet Russia's introduction to American slang is probably a thing that the Moscow officials will shake their heads over for a long time.

SELF-SUSTAINING FARMERS

The Department of Agriculture predicts that American farmers during the coming year will produce a far higher proportion of their own food-stuffs than has been the case for many years.

An ever-increasing percentage of farmers, the department has found, are grinding their own flour, keeping more eggs and milk for home use, canning and preserving more fruits and vegetables and slaughtering more animals for their own consumption.

Although this development was brought about by hard times, it probably represents a healthy trend. The one-crop farmer, who buys all his food at the village grocery and turns his farm into a kind of factory for the production of one staple commodity, is especially vulnerable to any depression. The farmer who raises his own food is at least sure that he will never go hungry. And that, in times like those through which we have been passing, is an assurance worth having.

One needs but examine the records of a presidential campaign, a municipal campaign if you like, to sense how large superstition, tradition, irrationalism, emotionalism and cave man reactions still endure and control.—Dr. Frank P. Graves, state commissioner of education, New York.

Unemployment has markedly diminished, credit is more abundant, business is more active and the people of the nation are looking hopefully to the future.—Henry I. Hariman, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

POLO NEWS

By Kathryn Keagy

Polo—Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth McCartney celebrated their golden wedding Tuesday, June 27. There were over 40 relatives and friends from Detroit, Peoria, Dixon, Sterling, and Polo and vicinity present. A delicious dinner was served at noon. Mr. and Mrs. McCartney received a purse of $25, besides letters, telegrams and flowers. During the afternoon friends called to extend congratulations.

Evan Reck plans on entering the School of Music at the University of Wisconsin July 10 for a three weeks rehearsal with the All State band. This band consists of 100 players and is to play at the Century of Progress on July 28 and 29. Evan Reck is the tuba player of the Polo school band and was chosen by Prof. O. E. Dalley of Madison to play in the All State band. The band, orchestra and chorus expect to make the trip to the fair.

The serpent men all hacked away and then they heard the old oak tree say, "This doesn't worry me one bit. I cannot feel a thing. Go on and chop. You'll never get through, because I am much too thick for you. I know I'll still be standing when you all have had your fling."

"Wee folks are never very strong that is why you will not chop for long. This little girl I am holding never will get down to the ground."

"I'm tired right now, or I would run and that, I am sure, would spoil your fun. As soon as I am rested I'll begin to dash around."

One of the serpent men cried out, "Oh, we know what we are about. Our hatchets are much sharper than you think. Just wait and see!"

And, as for strength, we are full of it. We don't get tired out. Not one bit! We will not stop our chopping till the little girl is entirely free."

"Three cheers for you," cried wee Dotty. "Say, I'll sure be glad to get away. Right now I cannot move because I'm being held real tight."

The tree limb's very strong, I guess. Why did I get into this mess? I'll feel that I am fortunate, if I get out all right!"

Just then the tree began to sway and Scouty loudly shouted, "Hey! It is going to fall. Look out below! We are likely to be badly crushed."

"We Dotty's squirming 'round and 'round. She soon will topple to the ground. Then right up to the tree some of the serpent fellows rushed."

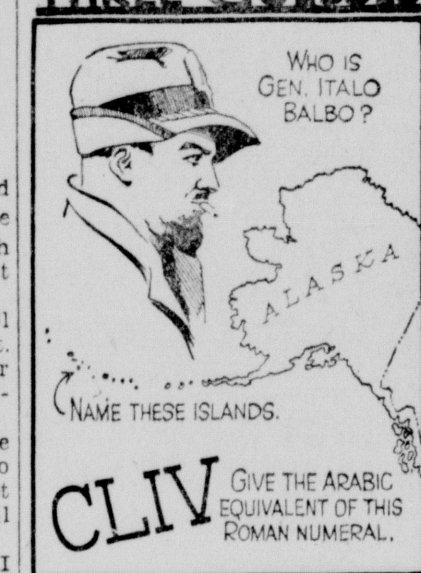

They held a net and one man said, "All right now Dotty, come ahead." The tree began to fall and Dotty toppled through the air.

She landed with a frightened sigh, right in the net, and bounced up high. "You are safe," exclaimed wee Dotty. "but you've had an awful scare!"

ASHTON NEWS

By E. TILTON

Ashton—The ninetieth anniversary of the founding of the Washington Grove Congregational church was largely attended Tuesday despite the extreme hot weather. Two former pastors were present. Seven visiting pastors and guests numbering 127 from Chicago, Tuscola, Rockford, Rochelle, Oregon, Stillman Valley, Mt. Morris, Dixon and Leon Grove, Ind., as well as many from the immediate vicinity.

Washington Grove is a rural church and no more beautiful setting could have been selected for the observance of the ninetieth anniversary of its founding than the tree shaded lawn of the parsonage. During the service the song of birds mingled with the words of speakers, adding a marvelous touch to the peaceful, country-side beauty. During the morning service vocal selections were rendered by O. O. Hedrick and William Grover, a reading by Miss Viola Cummings and a history of the church was read by Miss Mabel Tilton. Letters were read from Warren Dennison, Secretary of the Congregational Christian Church of the United States, Hermon Eldridge, editor of the church paper, and W. P. Minton, Mission head, all of Dayton, Ohio, and all of whom have been guests at the church. A letter of interest to many was that from Fernando Sanford, instructor in the Leland Stanford University, in California. The letter referred to many pioneers of the Grove. Prof. Sanford recalled that the first funeral which occurred in the frame building erected to succeed to log cabin church, was that of his mother in October, 1856.

Former pastors who were present were the Rev. E. C. Geeding of Leon Grove, Ind., and Rev. R. W. Pittman of Leaf River. Accompanying Rev. Geeding were his wife and three daughters. Mrs. Pittman accompanied her husband. Shot talks were given by the former pastors and visiting ministers and at eleven o'clock the meeting was dismissed to enjoy a social period, while dinner was served.

Musical numbers by a ladies trio from Rochelle, solos by Fred Parsons, duet by Mrs. Sadie Grover and Mrs. Rita Biggers, were interspersed with talks by the visiting ministers including Rev. E. C. Geeding, Leon Grove, Ind.; Rev. McCune, Mt. Morris; Rev. Sawyer, Stillman Valley; Rev. Marsh, Oregon; Rev. Buck Franklin Grove; Rev. Pittman, Leaf River. Rev. John Gordon, Rockford, following the congregational singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Gordon and the congregation, lingering to greet old friends once more, eventually drifted away and the anniversary celebration had joined the past.

Frank Tilton, who has been in a critical condition the past week, was removed to the Rochelle hospital Tuesday. Very little hope is entertained for his recovery.

Miss Anna Pletner has contracted to teach the Fisher school the next term and Elmer Guio of Rochelle will teach at Husking Peg school the coming year.

Miss Mable Tilton who has been attending the University of Southern California the past year, returned to her home during the week.

Mrs. Nina Posselt of Chicago was a guest of her aunt, Mrs. Janet Dugdale, Sunday.

The annual Hardesty reunion drew close to one hundred members of the family, Sunday to Dugdale's Grove. The oldest member was Ed Hardesty, who will celebrate his ninetieth birthday soon, and the youngest present, was the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dugdale.

Among those of the Pine Rock Woman's Club who attended the Ogles County Woman's Club picnic at the Pines Tuesday, were Mrs. Margaret Johnston and Miss Blanche Canfield.

The T. T. Grover family were guests of their parents at a family dinner Sunday, thirty-eight being present. The families of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. William Grover, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Grover, Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Grover, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McAnley enjoyed the day as a united family.

Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Grover will be hosts to all former pupils of Husking Peg school at their home, Sunday, July 2.

Editor Dean, accompanied Mrs. J. A. Torrens and her father, Mr. Wertz to Chicago on Tuesday, where Mr. Wertz underwent medical treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Drummond were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. George Armstrong of Grand Island, Neb., and Miss Harriet Taylor of Paul, over Sunday. The young people were enroute to the Century of Progress. The young women are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor, who are descendants of the James Taylor family, pioneers of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Powell of Dixon were guests of Mrs. Powell's cousin, Mrs. Leland Tilton Sunday.

Miss Genese Oakes, Miss Merle Tilton and her brothers, Hugh and Millard, were week end guests at the Century of Progress.

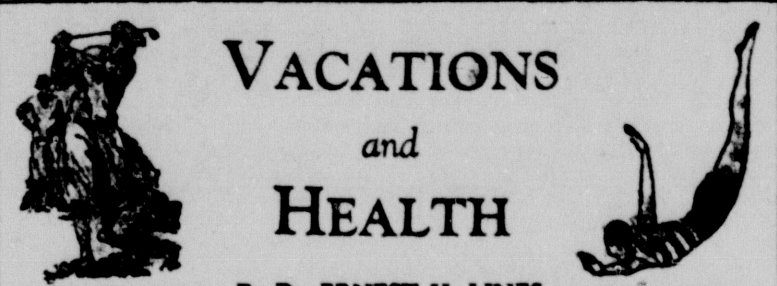

Supervisor and Mrs. Perley Cross and Mr. and Mrs. Don Cross and Ralph Cross and Mable Stanley, were guests at the E. A. Clover home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Zaida Blaine of Tuscola, Ill., was a guest of her uncle, Andrew Drummond, Tuesday.

Mrs. Viola Sanford who has been caring for her brother, Frank Tilton, is a guest of her brother, R. Y. Tilton.

SWIMMING

SWIMMING is excellent exercise for developing the body. Most people spend their holidays near some lake or stream, or the seashore, where they can indulge in this invigorating sport, which has been given added impetus by the interest taken in it by President Roosevelt.

Generally speaking, swimming is an art that must be acquired. It should be learned by everyone at as early an age as possible. The ability to swim only a few strokes may be enough to save your life some day. Seldom do beginners show any ability to swim when suddenly immersed in deep water. It is very dangerous, therefore, to push a person who may not be able to swim into deep water. If you do happen to be the victim of such a foolish "prank" and can't swim, don't get panicky and struggle and gulp a great quantity of water, but hold your breath and by gentle movements, keep the head above water.

Many swimming accidents could have been avoided if people had taken certain precautions before swimming or diving in a strange place. Learn about the currents and tide. Never dive in unknown, shallow or rocky waters. Even in clear waters remember that "a deep dive is often a dangerous dive."

Avoid weeds and undercurrents when swimming in the open. If you are swimming in a river and accidentally get into a bed of weeds, stop kicking and work with your arms. The current will usually let you through. If you are carried away by the current of a river, select a spot down-stream on either bank and swim diagonally towards it. Never mind where you have left your clothes. Your life is more important.

If you are swimming in a rough sea, do not attempt to breast the waves. As each wave rises, swim through it and thus save yourself the buffeting that might cause insensibility.

When swimming in either pools or open water, investigate the cleanliness of the water. Many diseases are water-borne.

Cramps are spasmodic contractions of the muscles that are beyond the control of the individual and come without warning. They are a common cause of drownings. Don't swim for at least two hours after eating, never drink any cold beverages immediately before swimming, and never swim beyond your depth in very cold water. Severe indigestion or cramps may result. Cramps also occur when the muscles are exhausted, and no person who may be tired or suffering from debility of any sort should go beyond his depth, or out of reach of assistance.

Over sixty per cent of drownings occur in the four months from May to August, and nearly half of these fatalities are among men and boys under twenty-five years of age. Don't overestimate your strength and swim far unless you are accompanied by a boat and a level-headed person who has been trained in life saving. It is also dangerous to go swimming alone or at night. Contrary to popular belief, a large percentage of drowning cases occur among people who are considered good swimmers.

This is the eighth of a series of 12 articles on Vacations and Health. The ninth, on First Aid, will answer the questions:

1. What is a wise precaution before starting on your vacation?
2. How can bleeding from a cut artery be stopped?
3. What should be done for burns, dog bites, fractures and electric shock?

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE EXAMPLE OF JOSHUA

By WILLIAM E. GILROY

A famous preacher once said, "God buries His workmen, but the work goes on."

The figure of Moses looms so large upon the pages of history that one might have supposed that with his passing the greatness of the things that he achieved would have suffered. We should not, possibly, put Joshua, his successor, upon quite the same plane, for Moses in the story of the struggle for liberty was a man of almost superhuman proportions. But Joshua had the same essential ideas and characteristics and he had the same source of help in the faith with which he relied upon the eternal God to help him.

All that we know concerning Joshua would have led us to think of him as the natural successor of Moses. He was among the 12 spies that Moses had sent to spy out the Promised Land, and he was one of two who returned not only with a good report, but with an undaunted courage that urged immediate efforts to possess it.

The 12 spies were all agreed about the desirability of the land, but 10 saw its giants, and its strongholds, and regarded its conquest as hopeless; whereas Joshua and Caleb had a deep faith in other than material forces, and believed that if the spirit of the Israelites were indomitable they could achieve the conquest of the land.

It should be remembered that in all these lessons we are living in a far-off age when national and racial, and sectional rivalries were a matter of course. Even until comparatively recent times we have had the common recognition of the doctrine that "to the victors belongs the spoils." If the men of one race or nation saw the country of another people as desirable they went ahead with plans for its possession.

Sometimes we imagine that we have changed much of this. We establish an International Court of Justice and a League of Nations, and we dream of a day when justice will rule between nations. The ideal is sound, and perhaps we are making more progress toward its realization than the cynic may admit. We are compelled, however, to recognize that a somewhat ruthless imperialism and expansionism still dominates in much of the world affairs.

We must not, therefore, read these ancient stories from the standpoint of too high an ideal or with too critical a temper. We must read them, rather, in the light of the age from which they come, and the significant thing about them is that we can see in men like Moses and Joshua and Caleb, and in all the great figures, whom we shall be studying in the quarter's lessons, those who manifested a moral character and heroism far in advance of the times in which they lived.

That really is the measure of greatness of any man; not the distance that he may be removed from the highest ideal that we could set up, but the distance that he has progressed in advance of his own age.

Joshua was a real leader. He stands before us as a man of intense devotion to his people and of devotion to the cause of right progress. He is not a self-seeker but a man who seeks true social and righteous goals. The lesson that introduces him bids him also farewell. In its brief compass we have the story of his life and his labor.

PREVENTING POISON IVY

"Once subject to poison ivy, always subject to it," is the popular saying and, unless special precautions are taken to prevent poison ivy, this saying is largely true.

We are told that in the olden days the American colonists tried chewing poison ivy leaves as a means for preventing the condition. Unfortunately, we have no clinical reports as to how successful they were in this rather stoical attempt. Some years ago the favorite prescription for the prevention of poison ivy consisted in giving to the susceptible person, by mouth, increasing doses of the resin of poison ivy dissolved in alcohol.

In more recent times, the injection method for the prevention of poison ivy has been developed. This treatment, consisting of four injections given on alternate days, does in a measure protect individuals against poison ivy.

However, the prevention is not absolute. Should the victim be exposed to large amounts of poison ivy, an eruption is liable to follow, despite the prophylactic treatment.

Where U. S. Power Control Is at Stake

New River, the most controversial stream in America, and the site of a proposed hydro-electric power dam, are shown in this air view. On a decision soon to be made by a North Carolina federal court of appeals rests the constitutionality of vital sections of the federal water power act. The Appalachian Electric Power Co. is appealing a decision that the government could regulate the company's construction of dams on tributary streams. The particular proposed dam is indicated in the picture and map, just above the confluence of Little River, shown at the extreme left, with the larger stream, New River, in Virginia.

Hence, local measures are also of importance in the prevention of poison ivy.

When one has been exposed to poison ivy or poison oak, a complete change of clothing and a tub or shower bath is advisable. The shower bath is preferable. If neither is available, one or more buckets of water will do.

Soap should be used liberally and the better it lathers, the more effective its service. The hair should also be washed.

After the bath, which should be thorough, rubbing alcohol should be applied to the body. This will further dissolve whatever poison ivy sap may have been left on the skin. The alcohol rub should be followed with a plain water rinse.

In dressing, none of the exposed articles of clothing should be worn. The garments which may have become contaminated with poison ivy resin should be aired or washed, dnish and avoid fHazeidnr( m mee . Tomorrow—Infantile Eczema ...

EXPLANATION IS MADE OF NAT'L RECOVERY CODE

First Objective Is To Get More Money Into People's Hands

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of articles prepared by staff writers of The Associated Press to explain in simple terms the important laws enacted at the last session of Congress.)

By JAMES P. SELVAGE

Washington, June 29.—(AP)—The first task of objective under the national recovery law is to get more money into the hands of the people, so they may buy more goods, so stores and factories will hire millions of the unemployed to meet the demand.

To do this, the law makes possible a cut in the number of hours now worked by men with jobs. Others then will have to be hired to do part of the work. At the same time the rate of pay is to be increased so that, working less, men will still make a living wage or better, and be able to spend enough to help business make jobs for yet more men.

The law lets all businesses in the same line get together and voluntarily agree to do this. The procedure for accomplishing the objective is:

Legal Procedure
A representative group of one industry drafts a code of fair competition. Since enactment of the Sherman anti-trust law in 1890, companies in the same line have been prevented from getting together but the national recovery act allows it for two years.

The code, for the present, is only to set the minimum wage that the industry may pay, and fix the maximum hours that any employee shall work, with, possibly, provisions for working below cost of production, to eliminate "sweatshop" competition.

This agreement is submitted to Hugh S. Johnson, the Administrator, who calls for a public hearing at which minorities within the industry, representatives of labor and representatives of the buying public may suggest changes to meet their needs.

The law permits employees the right to organize any way they choose, and their employers are forbidden to interfere.

Aided By Boards
Johnson is aided, in considering the agreements, by three boards: One of industrialists, one of labor experts and the third representing consumers. Each must advise from the viewpoint it represents.

When they agree upon terms of the code, it is up to Johnson. When he approves, it passes to President Roosevelt, who has reserved final say on all agreements. Once the codes are promulgated they have the force of law, so all plants within the specified industries must abide by their terms.

If any firm refuses to act under industry's code, the President can compel it to do so by requiring the whole industry to take out licenses, closing down the plant which does not qualify for one by accepting the code.

If any industry refuses to adopt a code, the government may frame one and order it enforced.

While increasing wages and jobs is the emergency phase of the law, later the codes may be expanded to outlaw unfair competition.

OREGON SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLAN GETS APPROVAL

City Officials Hope To Build Plant Under Government Aid

Approval of plans for the construction of a sewage disposal and treatment plant for the city of Oregon has been recommended by the state highway department, it was learned in a letter received by Mayor S. Otto Garard of that city from Charles E. DeLew, assistant chief highway engineer at Springfield.

The letter, in response to an application for Federal funds for the construction of a sewage disposal plant made last week by the city council, was addressed to the Governor's committee on unemployment, and urged its approval of the construction plan.

Plans for a sewage system and treatment plant were prepared in 1919 by Marr, Green & Oppen Company, of Chicago, for a combined sanitary and storm water system. Ordinances were passed and the preliminary assessment was spread on account of adverse public opinion.

Estimated Cost
The entire plan will cost in the neighborhood of $150,000, it was estimated. New plans will have to be drawn, the council has decided, since it will be necessary to have separate sewage and storm water systems.

Funds for the entire cost of the project were asked in the application from the Federal government including a free grant of 30 per cent of the total cost. The remaining 70 per cent of the cost will be raised by means of sewer revenue bonds, providing necessary legislation is enacted to legalize their issue.

DeLew's letter in part stated, "In view of the facts . . . it is our recommendation that this project which is estimated to cost approximately $150,000 receive the endorsement of your committee."

O'HARA ATTACKS BIG BANKERS OF UNITED STATES

Accused Them Of Responsibility Of Disastrous War

Milwaukee, June 29.—(AP)—American Bankers were accused by Barrett O'Hara, former Lieutenant Governor of Illinois, of being responsible for the killing of "millions in wars for selfish gain," and placing the public's money in "doubtful railroad securities and foreign bonds" while investing their own fortunes in reliable government securities.

Addressing the annual convention of the American Federation of Teachers, last night, O'Hara said that of the first billion dollars raised by Liberty Bond issues in this country and loaned to England, $700,000,000 was used by that country to pay debts owed to Wall Street bankers. Referring to Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds, he said:

"Not a nickel of this money has gone to buy food or to provide jobs for the unemployed," he said. "It has gone to insolvent business, and so back to Morgan the magnificient and his associates to pay bad debts."

Saying the government is controlled financially, industrially and morally by banking, O'Hara said he was thankful for the "crash of 1929."

"For the first time in history people are thinking straight," he said. They are facing the realities just in time to prevent demoralization of the education system by the money interests. The revolt of the teachers is as great an historical event as the Battle of Bull Run and will be remembered as such."

ARBUCKLE, ONCE BULKY COMEDIAN OF SCREEN, DEAD

ally acquitted in connection with the case.

The scandal cut short his career as a movie headliner. When, after his acquittal, it was reported that his comedies would again circulate freely, there were protests from church organizations and other sources.

TRAGEDY BROKE CAREER

San Francisco, June 28.—(AP)—A "wild party" in a San Francisco hotel which cost the life of Virginia Rappe, nearly 12 years ago, abruptly broke off the motion picture career of Roscoe "Patty" Arbuckle at the height of his popularity.

The then famous comedian, host at the party, was charged with murder and subsequently tried three times for manslaughter. Although it took the jury in the third trial only two minutes to acquit him, the blot of that drinking party completely changed his career.

Arbuckle's guests at that afternoon party, on September 5, 1921, included Miss Rappe, a motion picture actress; her friend, Mrs. Bambina Maud Delmont; Zey Prevost and Alice Blake, show girls.

Arbuckle and Lowell Sherman, another film actor, wore pajamas and dressing gowns, testimony at subsequent trials brought out, and during the party Mrs. Delmont also gowned pajamas.

Found Girl Dying
At the height of the gayety Miss Rappe left Arbuckle's rooms, where the party was. Arbuckle followed her. An hour or so later two of the women found her writhing on a bed in a nearby room, the door of which testified was opened by Arbuckle in response to their persistent knocking.

The girl, fully dressed, was tearing at her clothes. As she lay there, Misses Blake and Prevost testified at Arbuckle's first trial, Miss Rappe cried:

"I am dying. He hurt me."

They said Arbuckle told her to "shut up" or he would "throw her out the window." He attempted to revive her by applying ice.

Miss Rappe was removed to another room and later to a hospital, where she died of a ruptured bladder.

The comedian denied all responsibility for the death of the actress, saying he had found her ill.

Tried Three Times
For 18 days the comedian occupied a jail cell facing a murder charge sworn to by Mrs. Delmont. This was reduced by police court to a manslaughter charge, or which Arbuckle was tried. During the three trials his first wife stood by him steadfastly, listening to court proceedings against the counsel of friends.

Juries in each of the first two trials deliberated more than 40 hours, the first voting 10 to 2 for acquittal and the second 10 to 2 for "conviction."

During the first hearing perjury charges were brought against Mrs. Maud Neighbors of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Irene Morgan of Pasadena was mysteriously poisoned. The perjury charges were dismissed and Mrs. Morgan recovered. Both were defense witnesses.

In the second trial Misses Blake and Prevost failed to remember having heard Miss Rappe say "he hurt me." For this failure of their memory the prosecution tried unsuccessfully to impeach their testimony.

Arbuckle did not testify during the trial, nor did the defense make an argument to the jury.

The actor also was arrested on charges of liquor possession during a prolonged investigation of the source of liquor served at his party.

REPUBLICANS IN ILLINOIS HOUSE ARE VICTORIOUS

Filibuster Forced Democrats To Consider
Their Measures

Springfield, Ill., June 29.—(AP)—Party differences composed, Illinois legislators toiled through long hours again today in an effort to finish action on all controversial legislation by tomorrow night, when adjournment is expected.

There was some unofficial and optimistic talk of being able to clean up today, but the chances are that at least one house will be in session when midnight arrives on Friday.

The end of the brief but vociferous Republican filibuster yesterday afternoon permitted the resumption of normal procedure, but among the controversial issues still undecided are the Horner tax, assessment bills extending the power of the state Tax Commission.

The House worked for fifteen hours yesterday, from 9 A. M. to midnight with two short recesses.

Passed Wage Bill
Passage of the minimum wage bill for women and children, which had been endorsed by Governor Horner and President Roosevelt, was the biggest accomplishment. Voting 87 to 26, the House sent to the Governor his proposal that wage boards should set fair pay standards for working women and minors.

The minimum wage bill was one of the major parts of the Horner legislative program. Its passage left the Tax Commission bills, which have been amended to permit local assessors to continue to assess the capital stock of publishing and printing companies, as the most potential source for a partisan battle.

Victory To Republicans
Victory went to the Republicans in their filibuster. After the House had been in an uproar during part of their afternoon, the Democrats gave pledges that Republican bills would be given equal consideration in both houses.

Settling another point of contention, attorneys' fees in the Waller-Crisberry Republican House contest were raised from $250 to $450.

As to the tax bills, which minority leaders at first insisted should be killed, an agreement was reached that they should be left to die or pass on the calendar according to their own strength.

The Senate transacted no business last night, while most of the time of the House was devoted to secondary proposals.

Dissent broke out, however, when an effort was made to amend the Lantz bills which would permit Cook county to levy local taxes for poor relief.

The Lantz proposals are on third reading in the House, ready for a vote on final passage. Benjamin Adamowski of Chicago, Democratic spokesman, attempted unsuccessfully to withdraw them for amendment, which would jeopardize prospects for ultimate enactment.

Devine In Attack
Downstate Democrats, including John Devine of Dixon and C. W. Burton of Edwardsville, said Cook county's delegation was satisfied with the sales tax and was attempting to kill other bills which would permit the metropolitan area to solve its own relief problem.

The House passed the Senate bill extending for two years the life of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, which will handle sales tax revenues during the rest of 1933. The bill had failed to pass earlier.

Little remains to be done on the appropriations. Senate concurrence in a House amendment will send to the Governor the University of Illinois money bill, which is the last major appropriation to clear both chambers.

The administration's housing-slum reconstruction bill is still shuffling around the legislative halls. It came back to the House with an amendment during the height of the Republican filibuster and a fight was avoided when Democrats moved to non-concur.

A conference committee will iron out the minor difference unless the Senate takes the shortest way out and recedes from an amendment.

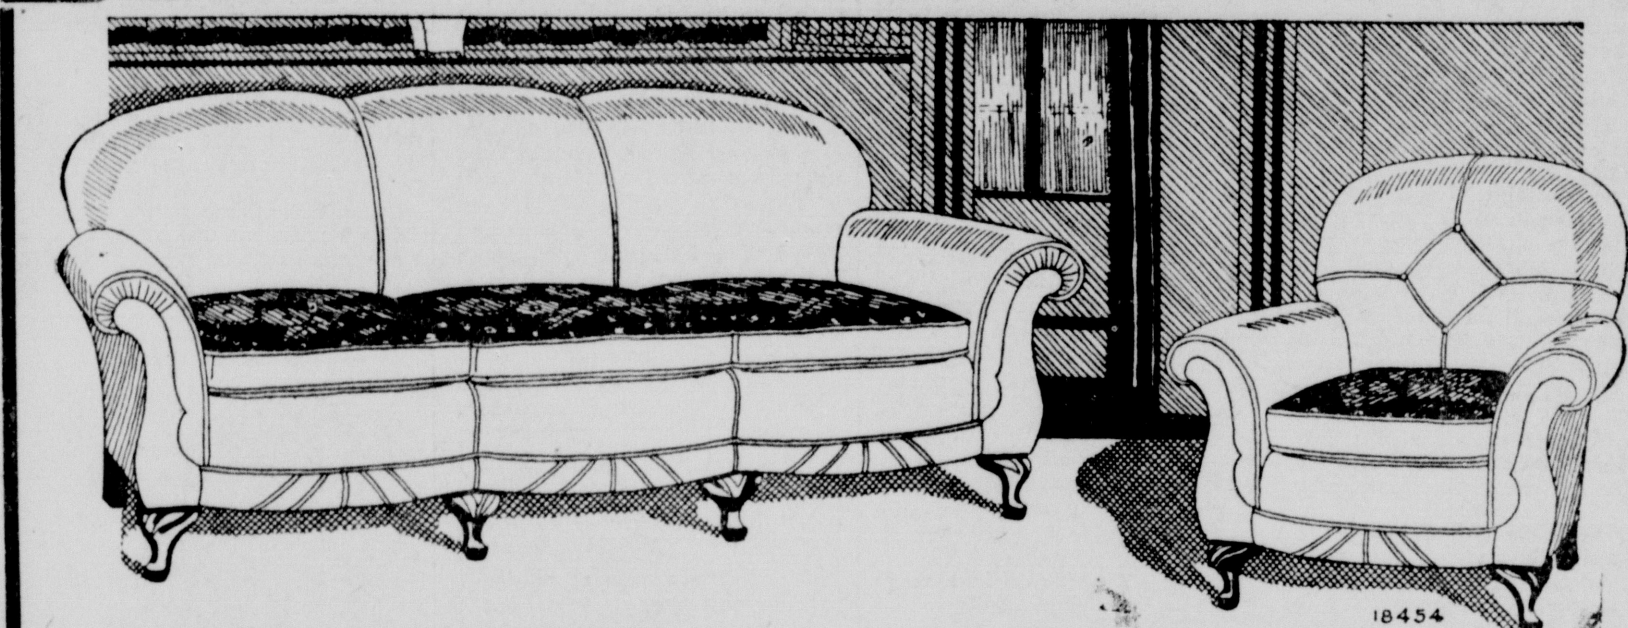

Bills which have been definitely killed are the mortgage foreclosure moratorium, the proposed creation of a state banking board and the plan to give control of trucks and buses to the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — When the democrats captured control of the house in the last congress the state of Texas came in for a very large share of the "spoils." Jack Garner became speaker. A round half-dozen of choice committee assignments, including interstate and foreign commerce, judiciary, rivers and harbors and agriculture, went to that state.

Despite the clamor from the north and west that the south was getting more than its share in the organization of the house, the Texans held on to their prized positions.

The special session, admittedly one of the most grueling in history, has been brought to a close. And in the house two Texans, chairmen of two of the major committees of that body stand out prominently.

A TEST OF STEERING—Among the most important pieces of legislation passed in the special session were the railroad bill and the securities act.

Both of these measures were handled in the preliminary stages by the interstate and foreign commerce committee. Sam Rayburn of Texas is chairman of that committee.

Rayburn has one of the best legislative batting averages of any of the democratic chairmen. He maneuvered both of these important pieces of legislation through the house without saying anything that smacked of real opposition.

His railroad bill was the subject of no fewer than 40 amendments during its course through the house. But in its final form only two words were added to the original text of the bill.

The securities act was much the same.

ANOTHER TEXAS PILOT—Marvin Jones of Texas, chairman of the agriculture committee, put through the house the far-reaching farm credit bill in the same manner.

The interstate and foreign commerce committee is admittedly one of the most thorough organizations in the house, and not given to allowing anything to be hurried through. The house has come to realize that fact. That may explain why measures that it reported to the house had such smooth sailing.

With Jones it was strategy. The tall Texan proved himself one of the ablest strategists in the house during the special session by the manner in which he maneuvered the legislation entrusted to his care.

Everyday Religion

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

H. G. Wells says that we Americans are "God-makers." We are always saying, "For God's sake let's go somewhere! Let's do something! We have lost, or are in danger of losing, our power of being still. A kind of ruthless restlessness drives us on. We are not merely hurried but harried, as if trying to escape from ourselves or something else. We do not want to be alone and we do not know how to be quiet. It is due in part to the spirit of the age, when the cry is all for speed. The papers give pages in praise of the man who goes faster than his fellows. We boast of bringing nations nearer by each new speed record, and rightly honor the man who achieves it.

Speed has its disadvantages too. It makes the world smaller but less wonderful. It transfers our admiration from the beauty of the scene to an awe at our power of whirling past it at a dizzy pace, in a blur of smoke and noise.

The result is a hectic kind of life, more excited than happy, and always on the go. Repose and poise, to say nothing of meditation and prayer, are well nigh lost arts among us. There is no end of chatter, but very little good talk. How seldom do people sit down and talk quietly, as in days of old. No, they are up and off to the movies, or just going for the sake of going. Our minds are so jumpy and scrappy that we never think things through, if we are able to think at all.

Yes, speed makes the world smaller, but stillness makes it larger. A few words uttered long ago are applicable to us today, "Be still, you know." To be still in body and mind is an art to be acquired, and if we are to have peace and richness of soul we must master it. It is not the same as being idle. There is a stillness of death, but also a stillness of growth, like the flowers absorbing the sun and the rain that is never hurried.

Such stillness is a magnetic thing; it attracts from earth and sky the elements of strength and wonder. Truth and beauty—those fugitive and holy things—give their pledge only to sincere stillness, when we wait, expectantly and patiently, with a quiet, unburied mind.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be blessed.—Psalms, 37:3.

If we had strength and faith enough to trust ourselves entirely to God, and follow Him simply wherever He should lead us, we should have no need of any great effort of mind to reach perfection.—Fenelon.

SPORTS RESORTS

GREAT CARD OF BOUTS AT DIXON OUTDOOR ARENA

Maples Arena Will Be Scene Of Entertainment This Eve

TONIGHT'S CARD
Arrio Sglati, Rockford, vs. Art Cook, Peoria—185 pounds.
Ereton Laurette, Marseilles, vs. Dwight Pollard, Rock Island—126 pounds.
Joe Cheverier, Marseilles, vs. Gaylon Holger, Rock Island—118 pounds.
Young Doty, Dixon, vs. Louis Visconti, Rock Island—135 pounds.
Eddie Carlson, Dixon, vs. Kid Morton, Marseilles—135 pounds.
Ray Wilson, Dixon vs. Dino Filpino, Ladd, —185 pounds.

The card of activities at the Crawford Maples arena this evening will bring together boxers from Dixon, Rock Island and Marseilles. The program will be featured with a double windup, which will exhibit four exceptional boxers. In the main bout and final event on the bill the Dixon Athletic Club will present Arrio Sglati of Rockford, formerly of Dixon, and Art Cook, Peoria, in the heavy weight division. Cook, it is reported, will scale heavier than Sglati, but both are Golden Glove champions and promise plenty of action.

In the semi-windup bout, match-maker Ed Hooker has paired "Grandpa" Laurette of Marseilles, a favorite before local boxing fans, with Dwight Pollard of Rock Island in the 126 pound division. Both are clever boxers and the onlookers are promised plenty of action as was demonstrated in all of Laurette's matches here last season.

Joe Cheverier of Marseilles, a hard hitting newcomer, has been matched to meet Gaylon Holger of Rock Island in the 118 division. Both of these boxers are clever fighters and several promoters have been trying to get them together since last season. Louis Visconti of Rock Island, the hard hitting left hander, who became a favorite on his first appearance before a local crowd last week, has been matched against Young Doty in the 135 pound class. Doty will have his hands full evading the terrific left hand punch that Visconti holds in reserve for close-in battling and the stinging right which he is equally effective with.

Eddie Carlson of Dixon will meet Kid Morton of Marseilles in the 135 pound division, theirs being the second battle on the program. Ray Wilson, the slugging Dixonite, who downed his opponent in the first minute of the opening round of last week's card, has a stronger opponent to start the excitement tonight in the opening bout. Wilson will step between the ropes to meet Dino Filpino of Ladd in the 185 pound heavy weight division, which event should prove a contest for both participants.

'BIG TRAIN' HAS FAILED TO SNAP INDIANS TO LIFE

Team Has Shown No Improvement Under Johnson

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Editor
If Cleveland baseball fans expected an immediate about face on the part of the Indians when Walter Johnson took over the managerial reins from Roger Peckinpaugh, they have been badly disappointed.

Of their last 17 games, they have won only seven and they have dropped all except two of their last 11 encounters.

Yesterday the Indians were the victims of the rampaging Washington Senators for the fourth time in five games, losing 15 to 2 as Washington chased Wesley Ferrell from the mound with a nine-run attack in the first inning, and then coasted to victory behind the pitching of Walter Stewart. Heinie Manush was the big gun of the first inning attack, hitting a single then driving out a home run with the bases filled.

Yanks Also Won
The Senators failed to gain ground, however, as the New York Yankees came from behind to plaster the Detroit Tigers with eight runs in the last two innings and 10 to 7 triumph. The victory still left the world champions trailing by one full game. Babe Ruth returned to the Yankees starting lineup and hit his 17th home run of the season.

Jimmie Fox jumped out in front of Ruth and Lou Gehrig in the home run race, hitting his 18th of the season, but the Athletics fell before the White Sox 9 to 8 when Joe Heying stopped a ninth inning rally after three runs had crossed the plate.

In New York Giants went on a home run hitting spree to get an even break in a doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates and gain a game on the St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped two to the Boston Braves. The Pirates won the first game 5 to 2 behind the effective hurling of Steve Seaver and appeared to have a nightcap well in hand until Hughie Critz tied the score with a home run in the ninth. Then Gus Mancuso hit a circuit blow, with two men on base, to clinch the game in the tenth, 7 to 4. Mel Ott and Lefty O'Doul hit a homer apiece and Gus Suhr connected once in each game.

The Braves, in defeating the Cards, beat Bill Hallahan and Ted Carleton 4 to 3 in the first game and then with Fred Frankhouse pitching three-hit ball, took the second 3 to 0.

Bill Jurgens led the Cubs to a double victory over the Phillies, pounding out a pair of singles in the first, which the league champions won 9 to 5, and connecting with four more safeties, one a home run, in the team's 8 to 3 triumph in the nightcap.

Cincinnati and Brooklyn split a doubleheader, the Reds winning the first game 7 to 1 with Paul Derringer hurling six-hit ball. The Dodgers squared accounts by coming from behind to take the second, 6 to 5.

ORTGIESENS IN VICTORY OVER PERRY GARAGE

City Dudes Shut Out Legion Team Wednesday Eve

The Ortgiesens Grocers and Perry's Garage soft ball teams battled it out last evening at the north field, the former winning a well played game by a score of 5 to 2. Fordham allowed only six hits in the seven innings. The score:

The City Dudes gave Roger Hay perfect support in their game against the American Legion on the south field last evening winning by the shut out route, 6 to 0. The Legion hits were held to a minimum and with an air tight infield, the batters started testing out the outfield where they found the slogging equally tough and the fans were treated to some sensational fielding.

EVEN MONEY IS WAGERED ON TO- NIGHT'S BATTLE

There Will Be No Broad- cast Of Sharkey Vs Carnera Fight

By HUGH S. FULLERTON
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

New York, June 29.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey, the temperamental ex-sailor from Boston, will defend his heavyweight championship of the world against Italy's "man mountain" Primo Carnera, in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden's big battle bowl on Long Island tonight.

Under the stimulus of hot weather and the impetus given the fight revival by the successful Max Baer-Max Schmeling scrap three weeks ago, a crowd of some 60,000 is expected to cram the bowl and pour more than $250,000 into the coffers of the Garden and of the Milk Fund, which shares in the receipts.

The disparity in the sizes of the contestants; Carnera's undoubtedly great improvement since the Boston glove handed him an artistic lacing at Ebbets Field two years ago; Sharkey's temperament, which has betrayed him into costly mistakes in previous bouts, gave the meeting a flock of "angles" which still had the faithful jittering around in search of a favorite today.

Sharkey started out with an edge in the batting, but the confidence of Carnera's backers have pounded down the odds until today the fans were faced with the unusual situation of having a champion rate no better than even money against the challenger.

Carnera, the biggest man ever to fight for the world's title, was expected to tip the scales at 369, just 65 pounds more than the champion, at the official weighing-in at the offices of the New York State Athletic Commission at 1 P. M. (EST) today. Despite his great bulk and his six feet, 7 inches of height, the "Vast Venetian" is fast and a clever boxer, lacking only a real knockout punch. He has a quick and accurate left jab and moves with surprising lightness on his oversize feet. He is, however, shy on ring generalship and unable to cope with sudden shifts in attacking style.

In Perfect Condition

Sharkey, in perfect condition, has displayed everything he needs to defend the crown in his work-outs, speed, snap, confidence and a venomous punching power that has worked havoc among his sparring partners. In addition there is the tragic "angle" of Ernie Schaaf's death a few days after he was knocked out by Carnera last winter. Although the medical evidence revealed that Carnera's jab had little or nothing to do with Schaaf's death, it gave him a reputation as a "killer" and it gave Sharkey, Schaaf's stablemate, an incentive to do his best tonight.

The champion's age, 31 years, almost seems to have weighed against him in the minds of the faithful, although the ring's records show a dozen or more heavyweights who had just reached their fighting prime at that age. Sharkey, a careful liver, proud of his reputation as a "family man" and trained to the minute for the bout should not be troubled by the weight of his years.

Weather predictions indicated the possibility of showers today but there is little likelihood of a postponement unless a heavy rain develops. The first preliminary is scheduled for 7 P. M. (EST) with the main event going on between 8:30 and 9 P. M., or earlier if the weather becomes threatening. The bout will not be broadcast.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BARRETT COLVIN, back in New York after a year abroad, fails in love with 20-year-old Elinor Stafford. Barrett is 35, and has a son who has grown up to be a successful architect.

LIDA STAFFORD, Elinor's beautiful mother, who does not get the girl in the background, wanting attention for herself, Lida is carrying on a flirtation with Barrett and constantly scheming to keep in the good graces of rich Miss Ella Sexton, her husband's aunt, in order to inherit a share of the Sexton fortune.

Years before Barrett abided his half-sister, MARCIA, when a youthful romance ended disastrously. Marcia had a son whom Barrett adopted. She tells Barrett that if her husband never learns of the affair he will never forgive her.

Elinor's mother goes to Miami for three weeks. When she returns she deliberately tries to break up the romance between Barrett and Elinor and again. The girl is heart-broken because she does not hear from him.

Now Lida is laughing—a shrill, snoring, hysterical laugh. So far as the chauffeur could hear there had been no reply at all from Miss Elinor.

He sympathized with the girl even more deeply as he opened the door of the car a little later. Lida's voice was so loud and high pitched it could be heard through the glass. "I pity that girl!" the chauffeur thought. The thought was an old one that frequently became a chant when the servants were together.

shilly. "A pretty time you chose—!" she began. It was the old story Elinor had heard so often during those two dreary days. A story of her having ruined her parents' future.

Lida punctuated her diatribe with questions. "And you knew perfectly well how she felt—who telephoned?"

"Craven. Miss Smythe is prostrated—"

"Miss Smythe prostrated! How delicious! Your father can't go to the office? He knows that?"

"Yes."

"He'll probably be out off without a cent—as you know. And of course you know why too but, even though he gets nothing, he must keep up appearances. I haven't a decent black dress. Has Bessie telephoned?"

"No."

"That's odd. I suppose she thinks since they will be the heirs that we are beneath notice. No doubt she's heard of your part in what happened. Hand me my negligee! Another thing—"

Celeste, whom Lida had summoned a moment before, appeared then and Lida exclaimed, "I've been waiting 10 minutes, Celeste!"

Elinor went to her own, much smaller room. She sat on the edge of her narrow bed and stared at a worn rug. Perhaps she had—ruined all hope of rest for her father.

She heard her mother leaving, heard angry orders flung across a shoulder. Then there was quiet. She must dress, she knew, but delayed, sickened by the thought of what she might have done to her father by smoking that one cigarette. He deserved some of her aunt's vast fortune.

He had worked hard all his life, driven by Lida's never-ending needs.

Elinor twisted her hands in misery. Celeste appeared, her eyes pitying. Ah—she with all the rest knew the story!

"I brought a little breakfast for you—chère Mademoiselle—in the small room on the tray."

Mademoiselle must eat, Celeste reminded. For a second she forgot she was a servant to remember that Elinor was young and suffering and alone. She laid a hand on Elinor's shoulder.

"Thank you, Celeste!" Elinor tried, because of Celeste and her anxiety, to eat as much as she could of "the little breakfast." The rest of the day passed slowly. She played chess with her father, wondering if she were really as glibly as her mother said. Memories of Barrett Colvin slung stiff and cold in Miss Ella's drawing room haunted the girl.

There followed another sleepless night; another day of much the same drear pattern. The third day was perhaps the most miserable, with Lida, nervous and flaring up angrily or becoming sullenly morbid. Everyone knew that at four they would go into the late Miss Sexton's drawing room and there a little later the will would be read.

At length the long stretch was ended.

staring at his hands, gripped between knees. It was amazing, Lida thought, to realize how easily he had been managed. She supposed she was in for a bad half hour with Vance Carter who would remind her of that promise to divorce Bentwell—a thing she intended to do in time but only when the right man appeared. How white Elinor was! And how stuffy Bentwell looked. Sentimental fool—he was actually blinking!

What a perfect old dodo the clergyman was! Well, Lida knew her share wouldn't be diminished by him, who, despite Miss Ella's stern disapproval, had had candles placed upon the altar.

"We brought nothing into this world and it is certain we carry nothing out. The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away!"

Lida looked extremely pensive because she wanted to smile. So terribly apt, that remark!

Just an hour or two more and they'd all hear the will. Thank God, that suspense would be over! She had heard Mr. Grotter speak to Barrett Colvin before the opening of the service to ask him to stay for the reading of the will.

The drive to the burial ground was long and cold, despite the heat in the cars. The snow that had lain for several days had a coating of soot. The open grave and the damp earth was depressing. Even Lida felt the dreariness in such passing. She saw Elinor and saw Barrett Colvin's anxious eyes on the girl.

Then the coffin was lowered
